

Direct link to this message

Re: Latest Thendic-Amiga Documents

SAVED FROM:
http://www.flyingmice.com/cgi-bin/squidcgi/mbthread.pl/amiga/expand/98826?page=1

Don Cox. jhgijhgijhg.

cache7-midd.server.ntli.net

On Thursday, Mar 4, 2004, Daniel Miller wrote:

- >
- > That email looks very authentic to me, and it seems like the kind of thing
- > Fleecy would say. I think it's genuine.

I think it's a parody.

Reply to this

Direct link to this message

Re: Latest Thendic-Amiga Documents

cheesegrate.as:fka's:f22@yahoo.com.

203.173.56.204

On Thursday, Mar 4, 2004, Don Cox wrote:

- > On Thursday, Mar 4, 2004, Daniel Miller wrote:
- >>
- >> That email looks very authentic to me, and it seems like the kind of thing
- >> Fleecy would say. I think it's genuine.

> I think it's a parody.

umm i should prob admit that i wrote the fleecy email, as satire. and now it's being used as evidence in a court case! jesu! oh well that's the amiga kkkcommunity for ya! ;)

adz

Reply to this

Direct link to this message

Re: Latest Thendic-Amiga Documents

Seehund.moc.riam@e.

h123n2fls24o1076.bredband.comhem.se

On Thursday, Mar 4, 2004, Amon_Re wrote:

> SCO number 2?

- They are using our sourcecode! There are thieves stealing our IP! D-day is in September! We will shut you down! We won't be more specific than that. Nudge nudge, wink wink. Don't laugh!

- If someone would want our precious IP (the one we created when we... umm... when third party dealers sell other people's hardware to AmigaOS users...) then they have to buy a license from us! Stop laughing at us! Please?

If you're suggesting that one of AInc or Genesi have done an SCO impression, I think it's pretty clear which one that would be. But since you posted to this thread, what do you think is SCO-like about this case? Other than possibly the "Litigious Bastards" bit. ;)

<http://www.google.com/search?&q=%22litigious%20bastards%22>

Reply to this

EXHIBIT I
PAGE 1 of 1